

You Think You're Clever!

VINNY PAGANO '22

Trudging through the desert, you stumble upon a mysterious obelisk. As you dust off the sand from its eroded faces, you cough vehemently—but more importantly, you discover that there are etchings inscribed on the pillar! “Think about how proud my Classics professor will be!” you say to absolutely no one. With the help of your handy dandy Google Translate App[®], you find that it says the following things:

Remember: CHAOS < ORDER

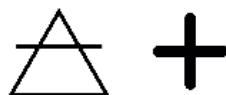

$\alpha \beta \gamma \delta \epsilon \dots \rightarrow ______ \dots ???$

Use LOGOS

- α . OAMOCLES : DWORD :: AROCRUSTES : ?
- β . SMALL : LARGE :: OMICRON : ?
- γ . HOLLOW VICTORY : PYRRHIC :: HOLLOW VILLAGE : ?
- δ . 677 : SCIPMYLO :: 357 : ?
- ϵ . A \ominus B \ominus A ? B
- ζ . ALPHA.jpg : BETA.jpg :: -NELOPE : ?
- η . ALEXANDER : ARISTOTLE :: PLATO : ?
- θ . PERMITTIVITY : EPSILON :: RESISTIVITY : ?

It is a puzzle! But alas! You missed a section of the column. It appears to be a hint of sorts...

1)

2)

+

